“ I want to extend my deepest sympathy to your family over the loss of Randy. I lived right behind Randy and his family from 1955 until about 1967 or so. I lived on St. Brendan lane. Our yards backed up to one another. Randy and I played many a home run derby together and many other childhood games. Do to life events I had never had the chance to see Randy since those days, but when I saw his death notice in the paper it brought sorrow and also some great childhood memories. I will keep Randy and his family in my prayers.##imported-begin##Chris Young##imported-end##

“ Rick and I feel loss and sorrow, but blessed too because Randy is relieved from the terrible illness that affected him so badly. The day before his death, Friday the 19th, we went to see him and he was reminiscing about memories that made him laugh, enjoying the visit, and sipping a Pepsi. We feel it was just merciful that he died in his sleep in the early morning of the next day. Now we can all be sure that he is at last at peace, well, strong, and happy, freed at last of the body that confined him for so long.##imported-begin##Pat Smith, Randy's sister-in-law##imported-end##
